

Police Practice and Research: An International Journal is committed to bringing the latest research on policing to its worldwide audience of scholars and practitioners. One example of this commitment is the publication of Special Issues that focus on a single important topic. In continuing this tradition, Police Practice and Research is proud to announce the following:

Special Issue Topics which will Appear in the Forthcoming Issues

Special Issue on “Community Policing”

Peter Grabosky, Professor, Australian National University, Canberra, Australia

Special Issue on “Policing: Facing an Uncertain Future”

John Crank, Director & Professor

Colleen Kadleck, Assistant Professor

School of Criminology and Criminal Justice, University of Nebraska, Omaha, USA

Dubai Meeting Special Issue, “Urbanization and Security”

Gary Cordner, Professor—Kutztown University, Pennsylvania

Stephen White, Police Advisor—Council of European Union, Brussels

Tenth Anniversary Special Issue, “Police Research And Practice”

Clifford Shearing, South Africa

Les Johnston, United Kingdom

Cincinnati Meeting Special Issue, “Police Without Borders”

Robin Bryant, Canterbury Christ Church University, UK

Odd Berner Malme, Police Commissioner, Permanent Mission of Norway, United Nations, New York

“Policing And The Mentally Challenged”

Duncan Chappell, Judge and Professor, Sydney, Australia

INVITATION TO GUEST EDITORS

Interested scholars, researchers, and practitioners are invited to submit proposals (i.e. topics) for Special Issues of Police Practice and Research. Each Special Issue generally contains 5 or 6 papers per issue and 3 or 4 book reviews. Interested Guest Editors should submit their proposals to Police Practice and Research Editor in Chief, Dilip K. Das – dilipdas@ipes.info. Special issues are also presented with selected papers from the annual meetings of the IPES.

Police Practice and Research (PPR) is a peer-reviewed, international journal that presents current and innovative academic police research as well as operational and administrative police practices from around the world. Manuscripts are sought from practitioners, researchers and others interested in developments in policing, analysis of public order, and the state of safety as it affects the quality of life everywhere. A specific goal of the editors is to improve cooperation between those who are active in the field and those who are involved in academic research. To this end, the editors encourage the submission of manuscripts co-authored by police practitioners and researchers that will highlight a particular subject from both points of view. Police Practice and Research Managing Editor is John A. Eterno. Those interested in submitting individual manuscripts (not Special Issue proposals) should submit their manuscripts, in proper PPR format (see formatting instructions at <http://www.tandf.co.uk>) to Associate Managing Editors James Adcock, Ph.D. and/or Sarah Stein, MSF.